Airlines Braced For Huge Surge Of Passengers

Thousands Returning Home After Holidays; Eastern, TWA Out

By The Associated Press
The country's airlines, their carrying capacity crippled by strikes, braced themselves today for an expected surge of passengers homeward bound after the long Thanksgiving weekend.

Eastern and Trans World Airlines, third and fourth largest in the nation in passenger miles flown annually, have been grounded by walkouts. The nation's largest line, American, still is flying under the shadow of a threatened strike that was delayed by a court order.

Some 6,700 members of the International Assn. of Machinists struck TWA a week ago Friday, and the line's 200 passenger planes were grounded Monday.

Also Monday, 550 members of the Flight Engineers International Assn. and 5,500 IAM mechanics struck Eastern, grounding 188 planes.

Employees Out Of Work

The two strikes threw about 35,000 employees out of work.

Wednesday night the twin strike snarled holiday travel and diverted thousands of airline passengers to bus and rail lines. But on Thanksgiving Day, a midholiday lull settled in, and the airlines still operating were easily able to take up the slack created by the walkouts.

At American Airlines, the company Friday night offered to sit down "anywhere and anytime" with the Air Line Pilots Assn. to try to settle differences without a strike. A union spokesman said the company offered sounded like "a public relations maneuver."

The offer came after U.S. Dist. Court Judge Frederick VanPelt Bryan tongue-lashed both the association and the line as he issued an extension on a strike-restraining order. The order would have expired at 11:59 p.m. Friday. The extension is good until Monday.

Judge Bryan became angry when he learned that neither side had met Wednesday as he had instructed them to do. Instead, the two sides had become involved in a dispute over where the meeting was to take place.

Patrol Investigates Four Road Mishaps

No one was injured in four minor accidents investigated by the state highway patrol on area highways Friday.

A car driven by Laird O'Hanlon, 16, of East Liverpool backed into an auto driven by David R. Tice, 25, of East Liverpool on Rt. 267, two and a half miles north of East Liverpool, at 9:50 a.m.

Patrolmen said cars driven by R. L. Shafer, 42, 812 S. Union Ave. and Duane M. Botaw, 32, of 745 E. 3rd St. collided at the intersection of Cemetery Hill Road and the Cunningham Road, three miles south of Salem, at 10:15 a.m.

A car driven by Kim Crawford, 73, of Rogers went out of control on Rt. 154, three miles east of Rogers, and tore up 36 feet of guard rail at 10:30 a.m. Crawford was arrested for being left of center, patrolmen said.

An auto driven by Nellie Slocum, 48, of Negley backed into a car driven by Virginia Torrence, 48, of East Liverpool on Rt. 170, one mile south of East Palestine at 12:01 p.m.

Schools Share State Foundation Funds

The Salem City School District received $38,388 in the recent record distribution of school foundation program funds, State Auditor James A. Rhodes reported today.

Other fourth quarter payments to neighboring schools included: Leetonia $42,124; Lisbon $46,540; Columbiana $28,883; East Palestine $55,878; East Liverpool $158,236; Alliance $158,680.

The local school districts in Columbiana County will share in a total of $179,805 and Mahoning County $490,255.

Thirteen Killed Over Weekend On Ohio Roads

By The Associated Press
Ohio's Thanksgiving weekend fatality rate has been slowed almost to a standstill by a heavy snowstorm which covered the state with from 6 to 10 inches of snow.

While there were many fender-bending accidents Friday, traffic was slowed to a crawl, probably resulting in the saving of several lives, the Ohio Highway Patrol reported.

The fatality count, which started at 6 p.m. Wednesday, mounted to 13 traffic deaths by Friday morning—and stayed there the rest of the day.

With the rest of Saturday and all of Sunday to go, the Ohio Associated Press fatalities count for the long holiday period stood at 13 in traffic, two fire deaths, and two fatal hunting accidents.

Fatalities reported Friday were: Bernice Frisby, 18, Lorain, when the car in which she was riding left Lake Road one mile north of Elyria and struck a utility pole.

Mrs. Muriel Stahl, 33, Peninsula, when her car was struck by a Baltimore & Ohio passenger train at the Everett Road crossing just north of Akron.

Barbara Yoder, 9, Rt. 3, Minerva, when the auto in which she was riding overturned on the Greentown - Alliance Road near Massillon.

Warren Woman Bears 17th Child in 21 Years

WARREN, Ohio (AP)—Another little Berry has been added to a crop that is Trumbull County's largest. Mrs. Clifford Berry gave birth to a son Friday in St. Joseph Hospital. That made a family of eight boys and nine girls for the Berrys, married 21 years ago this month. The father is a Republic Steel Corp. foreman.

Frankfurter Improved After Heart Attack

WASHINGTON (AP)—Supreme Court Justice Felix Frankfurter was reported today "progressing fine" after "a very good night" at George Washington University Hospital. He is being treated for a mild heart disturbance.

Frankfurter's office added that he was resting comfortably. The peppy little justice was reported in good spirits.

He had been sent to the hospital for what was described as rest and observation.

Strategists Claim Margin Assured Until '63

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democratic campaign strategists said today their margin of Senate control is so great it is highly unlikely the Republicans could overturn it before 1963.

They added a strong GOP tide would have to be running both in the 1960 and 1962 elections to give the Republicans a chance of taking over Senate leadership even four years hence.

The addition this week of two more Democratic senators from Alaska swelled further the confidence already expressed along those lines by the party's campaign leaders.

The Alaska sweep gave the Democrats 64 senators as against 34 for the Republicans, just two shy of two-thirds.

Beginning Estimates
Although the new Congress will not take office until January, the Senate campaign committees of both parties already are beginning to make their estimates and plans for the congressional voting in 1960.

Unlike 1958, the Democrats will have many more seats at stake in the 32 Senate contests two years hence. But even so, the mathematics of the situation remains favorable to the Democrats.

Of the 21 majority party sets that will be at stake in 1960, 10 are in Southern states where the Republicans often do not even make nominations. Three others are in border states — West Virginia, Oklahoma and New Mexico.

Salt, Ashes Of Little Help Doing Big Snow

Seven loads of salt and ashes were strewn over the city's streets Friday, Service Director Harry Vincent reported today.

He said, however, that new snow covered the ashes almost as soon as they were applied.

The entire street department force worked from 7 a.m. straight through to 11 p.m. yesterday, Vincent said.

Of the seven loads, three were spread over the entire length of State St. through the main business section, the other loads were applied to every intersection with a traffic light and the main stop streets and on all hills throughout the city, he said.

Nixon On Way Home After Europe Visit

LONDON (AP)—Vice President Richard Nixon appeared today to have given a reinvigorating shot in the arm to British-American relations by his four-day visit here.

With Nixon and his party en route home, the Conservative Daily Telegram today summed up the visit this way:

"The vice president of the United States has proved himself a frank and engaging character. He has had much to tell us about his own country. He has had even more—and that of a consistently appreciative nature—to say about Britain."

"Mr. Nixon has, in passing by, done a good deal to cement the Anglo-American alliance. In fact, Mr. Nixon has done us good. He has treated us as friends and partners, entitled to understand the difficulties experienced by the United States as well as to realize that our own difficulties are not discounted by his countrymen."

Among results of the Nixon tour is that many responsible Britons gained an impression from his public and private statements that the Washington administration "has learned a lot about the international facts of life," said the Conservative Daily Mail.

Politicians — both Conservative and Socialist — seemed impressed with Nixon's air of sincerity whether he was talking about major international issues or his own political views.

Asia's Reds Meet to Plan Mutual Support

TOKYO (AP)—Asia's Communist leaders may be cooking up a new move to test the Western world's defenses and nerves.

The strategy may have been laid down in a series of conferences among Mao Tse-tung, Red China's boss, North Korea's Premier Kim Il Sung, and North Viet Nam's President Ho Chi Minh.

Peiping radio has assigned the central role in the talks to Kim, who visited for several days with Mao and other Red Chinese leaders in Wuhan and then journeyed to Viet Nam to meet Ho. The radio said "mutual support" was pledged "against U.S. imperialism."

There has been no other word on the purpose or results of the conferences.

But the emphasis on Kim added

Soviets Planning Broad Program In West Berlin

German Reunification Is Heart of Crisis, According to Reds

BERLIN (AP)—A Soviet spokesman said today the Kremlin's plan to make West Berlin a free, demilitarized city might be "expanded and changed" during negotiations with the Western powers.

The statement came amid Western suggestions that the Soviet drive to get the Allies out of West Berlin should be used as the basis for broad discussions of German reunification — the problem lying at the heart of the current crisis.

A spokesman for the Soviet Embassy in East Berlin indicated the Russians may take a flexible attitude during the six months of negotiations they have proclaimed before trying singlehandedly to end the four-power occupation of Berlin. He said he did not regard initial Western reaction to Soviet Premier Khrushchev's plan as a rejection.

Lord Mayor Willy Brandt of West Berlin advised the Allies to deal with the problem of uniting Communist East Germany with free West Germany rather than just reacting to the Moscow plan.

British diplomats in London also suggested yet another round of reunification talks, possibly by foreign ministers of the West and Russia or even by heads of government.

The subject probably was discussed in Bonn, the West German capital, where the three Western ambassadors were called to the Foreign Office. David K. E. Bruce of the United States, Sir Christopher Steel of Britain and Francois Seydoux of France conferred with Dep. Foreign Minister Hilger Van Scherpenberg. Details were not revealed.

Bonn's opposition Socialist party said the Berlin crisis had opened the whole German problem. A spokesman in Bonn agreed with Brandt, a Socialist, that a broad Western response was needed.

Bruce and Seydoux will come to Berlin Sunday to talk with Brandt. Gen. H. I. Hodes, commander of the U.S. Army in Europe, arrived by special train today in what was called a routine visit to see a service football game, but he scheduled for Sunday one of his rare news conferences.

Brandt urged Friday night that the Western powers counter Soviet Premier Khrushchev's plan to neutralize West Berlin in six months, with broad proposals on German unification. The West ought to act quickly because the Soviets "may put on pressure before."

Blaze Guts Stands At Grandview Track

CLEVELAND (AP)—Whipped by 32 m.p.h. winds, fire today destroyed the clubhouse and grandstand of Grandview race track on Ohio 43 about 15 miles southeast of here.

Cause of the blaze was not known. Firemen from several nearby communities fought to save the home of a caretaker and his wife. There were no injuries reported and officials believed the pair who normally lived there had escaped safely.

Value of the harness race track is estimated at $1,750,000. The track was opened for trotting and pacing in 1953 but had been a running track for many years going back to the 1920s.

The temperature was about 15 degrees as fire units from Solon, Aurora, Bainbridge Twp., Reminderville and Twinsburg fought the raging blaze.

The fire was reported by a passing motorist at 9:20 a.m.

President of Grandview Raceway, Inc., is Walter J. Michael of Bucyrus. McKinley Kirk of Washington Court House is vice president and general manager.

The track is located in Teauga County, and is at the corner of four counties — Geauga, Summit, Cuyahoga and Portage.

Driving Conditions Hazardous

Middle West Is Hit By Heavy Snowfall

By The Associated Press
A fast-moving snow storm which left a blanket of white across the Midwest prairie lands before it moved eastward, dumped heaviest falls of the season across wide areas today.

The storm, powered by strong winds, spread more than 10 inches es of snow in some parts of New England, Pennsylvania, New York and Ohio.

The major snow area extended from northern New England across northern New York State and western Pennsylvania into the Upper Ohio Valley.

South of the snow belt, cold rain chilled Southern sections. Sleet pelted areas in between the snow and rain belts.

Conditions Hazardous
Driving conditions were extremely hazardous in many parts of the storm-battered regions. Several persons were killed in traffic accidents due to the ice-slicked and snow-covered highways.

Traffic slowed in the big cities, such as Pittsburgh and Cincinnati, as the first major snow storm of the season hammered in midwinter style across a wide stretch from southwestern Ohio to central New York State and into New England.

It was cold, too, not only in the storm belt but in the snow-covered sections of the country from the Rockies through the Midwest.

The South also was frosty as the icy air plunged into the Gulf Coast and temperatures dipped to near freezing and lower along the middle Gulf Coast.

Snow fell on Alabama as the southern edge of the storm, with near freezing temperatures, advanced into the northern part of the state late Friday.

Warm air clung to the Atlantic Coast region during the night. But it was retreating rapidly as the cold air moved southeastward across the Appalachians.

Temperatures were near 70 late

Snow Covers All Ohio With White Blanket

By The Associated Press
All Ohio lay under a blanket of snow today that ranged from 6 inches in the northern part of the state to a near record 8 1/2 inches in Cincinnati.

The season's first big snow fall was accompanied by a number of deaths from apparent heart attacks. A 57-year-old St. Clairsville man, W. H. Watson, died of a heart attack while putting chains on his tires Friday. In Cleveland, seven men died of apparent heart attacks while out in the storm.

Chester Neal, 46, a trusty in the Berea jail, died while shoveling snow in front of the jail. Joseph B. Zingale, 51, died cleaning snow from his parked car in Independence. George Lewis, 70, and Joseph Papotta 55, University Heights, died in automobiles they were driving, and William Joiner, 36, was stricken in his taxicab.

Max Neuse, 58, Oakwood, suffered an attack while riding a tractor snow plow, and Lim Wing 60, collapsed on a sidewalk near his home.

For most of the state the heavy snow has ended, but the Weather Bureau warned that the fringe area near Lake Erie can expect locally heavy snow flurries today and Sunday. For the rest of the state the prospect is for clearing skies and colder temperatures.

The storm brought at least one blessing. The long Thanksgiving weekend traffic fatality rate, which climbed alarming Wednesday and Thursday, tapered off drastically as motorists were reduced to crawling speed.

But there were plenty of crumpled fenders, stalled autos and delayed commuters.

In Cincinnati, police reported 76 accidents and six storm-connected injuries Friday.

In Cleveland, police tow trucks were in such demand that during the rush hour they could only push stalled vehicles to the side of the road instead of taking them to garages. An Army of snow plows worked through the night Friday in order to prevent a repetition of traffic jams that delayed commuters for hours during the Friday afternoon rush hour.

The Highway Patrol said all state highways and most secondary roads are open, but driving conditions remain extremely hazardous.

'Beast' Streaks To Its Target In South Atlantic

6,325 Mile Flight Puts America Back On Par With Russia

WASHINGTON (AP)—A mighty Atlas missile streaked 6,325 miles from Florida to a target in the south Atlantic Friday night, showing the world the United States has a fully operational intercontinental ballistic missile.

The feat put the U.S. on a par with Russia which has claimed possession of an ICBM.

The "beast," as the Atlas is nicknamed, sped the distance in only about 30 minutes after roaring away from the Cape Canaveral launching pad.

Announcement that the missile was "successfully test fired for the first time over the full intercontinental range" was made this morning by the Defense Department after a check on data from observers and recording devices spotted along the missile's path.

Missile Hit Target

Later an Air Force spokesman said the missile hit a designated target area after its long roaring flight across the south Atlantic. He added that "all test objectives were achieved essentially 100 per cent." The size of the target area was not disclosed.

The missile's silvertipped nose cone — which in event of war would be a nuclear warhead — dropped into the south Atlantic near Ascension Island.

The huge rocket sped into the Florida sky like a flaming meteor Friday night and remained visible for nearly four minutes as it curved gracefully into the path through the higher atmosphere to its target.

But, despite the very apparent success of the launching at 9:27 p.m., the Defense Department and Air Force waited until today to be absolutely certain before announcing results of the shot.

The Convair Division of the General Dynamics Corp., builder of the Atlas, claimed success of the flight shortly after the launching.

"The Department of Defense has announced that the Atlas ICBM launched last night was successfully test fired for the first time over the full intercontinental range, a distance of approximately 5,500 nautical miles. (6,325 statute miles.)"

"The missile was fired over the Atlantic missile range from Cape Canaveral, Fla., at 9:27 p.m. EST Friday."

"The missile was powered for this significant flight by its three engine cluster."

"Prior successful firings, all at less than the full range, but em-

Police Investigate Three Car Accidents

Police investigated three accidents on the city's icy streets Friday.

Numerous cars were stalled or stuck in snow on city streets yesterday, police reported.

A car driven by Stanley Arthur Lentz, 62, of 139 1/2 S. Lincoln Ave., skidded over the curb on N. Ellsworth Ave. near E. 3rd St. at 9:15 a.m., tearing loose the front porch steps at the residence of Frederick J. MacClain, 121 E. 3rd St. police said.

A car driven by Frank Clemen, 19, 243 W. State St. skidded into a hedge in the yard of Valentino Migliorini of 252 W. Pershing St. at 3:24 p.m.

Cars driven by William H. Greene, 40, North Georgetown and Frank J. Holloway 30, 1455 Jennings Ave. skidded into each other on Jennings Ave. near W. 7th St. at 1:27 p.m.

Bible Words for Today

MATTHEW 13:31-32 — "The Kingdom of Heaven is like a grain of mustard seed... the smallest of seeds, but when it has grown it is the greatest of shrubs." (RSV)

In Alabama some time ago I looked up to see the source of a tiny acorn at my feet. Towering above me stood a mighty oak, with limbs like huge logs and a trunk wider than my car!

In reverie I pictured a small Indian lad who, perhaps 300 years before, on that very spot, also found and spared a tiny acorn, because he heard it say that in centuries to come, perhaps at the dawn of eternity, he would be proud ever to have known the puny little acorn, and he would find shelter in its branches from the torrid sun.

Though it seems to grow slowly the church grows surely. And that's more important. Don't be misled by the seeming insignificance of Christ's cause. God has deliberately chosen what is weak in the world ultimately to shame the strong.

Religion At Work

By EUGENE CARR

Legal or Ethical: A Fine Difference

We had a discussion at our house recently on the fine difference that sometimes exist between what is legal and what is ethical. The two are not the same always, but it's easy to think they are!

Merely because something is permitted by law does not mean necessarily that it measures up to a high standard of ethics. The law permits us to do many things that are contrary to a strict moral code.

Laws are rules of action established through recognized authorities for the purpose of prescribing specific duties or obligations and insuring justice.

The field of ethics represents a philosophy of morals, a science of human duty based on principles of right action.

OUR ACTIONS may be legal and still not be ethical. We may conform to the law in every respect while overlooking entirely the points of morality involved. We may do our legal duty and at the same time neglect the human aspects of right and wrong.

The example that brought on our discussion had to do with the manner in which a large gift to a public institution was handled. The transaction was legal in every sense of the word, but both the donor and the recipient of the gift violated a principle of right action. Legally they were right; morally they were wrong.

Secretary of State Dulles made a point in this connection not long ago in an address before the Military Chaplains Assn. He said our nation was founded on the principle that man has a moral duty to perform, and implied that this duty goes beyond the requirements of a legalistic code of conduct.

Mr. Dulles quoted George Washington as having said that the indispensable supports of a representative government are morality and religion. In other words, legal action or adherence alone are not enough to create and maintain a nation of free men.

The main force behind such a nation must be the desire of its citizens to do what is right regardless of what the law permits.

THE THANKSGIVING season is a good time to review the question of law vs. ethics in our national life.

Not until the Pilgrims came to these shores in 1620 did the colonization of America take a firm hold and go on to the expansion and development that have given us our nation today.

What did the Pilgrims have that other colonists did not have? Why did they succeed while others before and after them failed?

The Pilgrims lived by a standard of character which was founded on the human or instinctive concept of what is right. They did not need a set of man-made rules to tell them what to do and not do. They followed their natural desire for justice and consequently lived above and beyond the minimum requirements of a legal code.

This is not to say that we do not need laws in a society as complicated as the one in which we live. But we should look upon the laws of the land as rules of competition, not as standards of conduct.

Leftovers from Thanksgiving

This is Thanksgiving weekend. Thanksgiving Day itself has already passed and, in millions of homes across the nation, we are eating the familiar leftover turkey dishes prepared from the turkeys most of us eat to mark the occasion. Our newspapers and magazines are full of ideas for turkey soup, turkey hash, hot turkey pie and even toys children can make with turkey bones.

have you ever tasted wild turkey? It's good to eat, but you won't find much meat on the bones, and if you're hungry there won't be anything left over for turkey hash. Well, no one knows whether or not the Pilgrims, when they celebrated that first Thanksgiving Day more than three hundred years ago, ate turkey. But if they did, it was wild turkey—and we do know that they were hungry enough so there certainly was no leftover problem.

THANKSGIVING LEFT some thoughts in my mind which I would like to share with you. Let's call them "Thanksgiving leftover thoughts" if you please.

I often wish I could know more about the Pilgrims and what they were really like. They must have been a great breed of people. Last year, I read an article by the captain of the second Mayflower, which attempted to duplicate the journey from England to New England made by the original ship.

It took a course down the Azores in the summer to avoid the rigors of the North Atlantic. The skipper admitted frankly that he didn't want to face the dangers of the route the first Mayflower took across the ocean—and their journey was made in September, when the hurricanes and storms begin in October, when the rain and winds come up; and in the cold of November.

They were indeed real people, real men and women, these Pilgrims—and those of us who can claim descent from them have reason to be proud of them, as do all of us who call ourselves Americans.

There were only 121 of them to start with. By the next spring, they had buried husbands, wives and children in this inhospitable wilderness and only 53 remained, half of them children. And, on these 53 people was placed the burden of building what became a great colony, a great commonwealth and a great country.

APPARENTLY they had strong tough minds and could take criticism (and maybe they needed some straight talk, too, as we all do at times). In 1622 there was published in London a sermon preached to them in those early days. These are the words the Pilgrims heard in their church one Sunday. It was strong preaching, to say the least.

"This country is yet raw, the land untilld, the cities not builded, the cattle not settled. Paul says that men in the last days shall be lovers of themselves, but here it is yet but the first days and as it were the dawning of this new world, it is now therefore no time for men to look to get riches, to have clothes, to have dainty fare, but to look to present necessities. It is now no time to pamper the flesh, live at ease, snatch fash, scrape and pull and hoard up, but rather to open the doors the checks and vessels and say, 'Brother, neighbor and friend what would ye?'"

They had hard tasks and their survival wasn't easy, but yet they had true gratitude to God. And so they felt it proper to set aside a day of thanksgiving. Think how much more each of us has to be thankful for in this modern day. Not only riches, clothes and dainty fare far beyond the wildest dreams of the Pilgrims; but a great country, firm on the foundation they built.

WE NEED TO REMIND ourselves not only on Thanksgiving but the day after and every day thereafter that no people have ever been blessed as has the American nation. Every day of the year we ought to bow our heads and give thanks for the privilege of living in a land of opportunity and freedom. This country may have its faults, and there are always those who spend their time enumerating them. There are indeed things that need correcting. But as for me I will never get over appreciating that I can live out my life in the good old United States. Such a thanksgiving leftover hope will stay with us all ways.

Control

— which most often are Democratic.

Eight Seats Doubtful — Thus the Democratic strategists argue that they have only eight seats which are in the doubtful column in the next election.

If they should lose 11 these they still would have 56 senators in the 87th Congress, or six more than enough for control.

On the other hand, the Democratic campaign leaders say that every one of the 11 GOP seats to be contested in 1960 is a battleground. They do concede that Sen. Margaret Chase Smith (R-Maine) will be hard to beat although they captured the other Senate seat in her state this year with Gov. Edmund S. Muskie and won the governorship.

Republican campaign officials say they naturally will concentrate on the eight Northern and Western Democratic seats next time, and declare they expect to win some of them. They say it is too early to pinpoint their best prospects.

The eight seats are now held by Sens. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.), J. Allen Frear Jr. (D-Del.), Theodore F. Green (D-R.I.), Hubert M. Humphrey (D-Minn.), Pat McNamara (D-Mich.), James E. Murray (D-Mont.), Richard L. Neuberger (D-Ore) and Joseph C. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.).

The Democrats say they will have a chance in 1960 in such states as Kansas, Nebraska, Iowa and South Dakota, which have for years been considered safely Republican.

The Democrats elected governors in all four of these states this year and also captured several congressional seats. But all eight of the senators from the four now are Republicans. Only in Nebraska, where Sen. Roman L. Hruska won re-election, was a Senate seat at stake this year.

The Democratic strategists also say they should have a good chance to unseat GOP senators in Kentucky, a border state usually Democratic but now with two Republican senators, and New Jersey, which has a Democratic governor and one Democratic senator.

Aside from Mrs. Smith, these are the Republicans whose terms expire in 1961: Sens. Gordon Allott (Colo.), Styles Bridges (N.H.), Clifford P. Case (N.J.), John S. Cooper (Ky.), Carl T. Curtis (Neb.), Henry C. Dworshak (Idaho), Thomas E. Martin (Iowa), Karl E. Mundt (SD), Leverett Saltonstall (Mass) and Andrew F. Schoepel (Kan.).

Lisbon Firm Selects General Sales Manager — LISBON — Clarence E. Griese has been appointed general sales manager of Ohio Holst Manufacturing Co., manufacturer of Bob-Cat electric hoists, chain hoists and other industrial equipment.

Mr. Griese, a native of Cleveland and graduate of Wharton School of Finance and Commerce at the University of Pennsylvania, has been the executive with the Geo. A. Tinnerman Corp., Cleveland, since 1955.

fore the end of the six-month period," he said.

The dynamic Socialist mayor of 2,200,000 West Berliners who live 110 miles behind the Iron Curtain made his comments to foreign correspondents. He spoke after receiving firm assurances from many Western leaders of support against the Soviet demand.

Will Reject Ultimatum — Diplomatic reports indicate the Western Big Three will reject Khrushchev's ultimatum — which the Soviet boss denies is an ultimatum. Foreign ministers of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization meet in Paris Dec. 16-18 and probably will work out the Western reply.

Khrushchev said Thursday West Berlin should be turned into a "demilitarized free city." He wants the 9,000 U.S., British and French troops here to withdraw while Communist East German troops and Soviet soldiers in the satellite state continue to surround the anti-Communist city.

Vice President Nixon of the United States, supporting Brandt's view, told newsmen in London Friday that "we already have two Germanys" and Khrushchev's plan "would give us three. It would only make the situation worse."

If the West fails to accept the Soviet plan, Khrushchev said, Russia will give East Germany control of supply lines to West Berlin. Any military action against East Germany—apparently including any Western effort to force through convoys to Berlin—would be treated as aggression against the entire Communist bloc, he declared.

to have used it in launching the Sputniks.

The Atlas blasted off at 9:27 p.m. Friday night. Its exhaust flames cast a dazzling white light over the Florida coast, and for a moment it dimmed a great orange moon that hung nearly full over the firing range.

Appeared Perfect

It appeared to be a perfect launching. "The Beast," as the Atlas is known, curved beautifully away on its thundering course toward the southeast and was in view four minutes before its fuel burned out and its light vanished high in the sky.

A few hours later, in San Diego, Calif., the Convair Division of the General Dynamics Corp.—builder of the Atlas—reported that the 100-ton missile flew the intercontinental range.

If so, this was the long-awaited climax of a test program that started in June 1957, when the first Atlas blew up soon after launching. The Atlas fired Friday night was the 15th test vehicle in the series.

Used Only Booster

The first eight used only the twin-chambered booster engine in the tail. Four of these flew successfully over 600-mile ranges. The others exploded in tests of guidance and strength.

Since then, Atlas missiles have been powered by the booster engine, a sustainer engine and two Vernier engines mounted to the outer shell to control the roll of the 85-foot long weapon.

The first of these fully powered Atlases blew up 45 seconds after launching. The next three flew successfully over 3,000-mile ranges. The next — the first one aimed at intercontinental range—exploded 80 seconds after liftoff.

Another performed well over a 3,000-mile range, setting the stage for Friday night's second attempt to send an Atlas all the way.

"There are no fundamental question marks left in the Atlas program," a statement issued by Convair said.

J. V. Naish, president of the General Dynamics Corp. division which builds the Atlas, declared: "We are now entering upon the last phase — the implementation of the Atlas as a potent deterrent force of the Strategic Air Command."

Naish said this will mean "more test flights, the training of Air Force crews in the techniques of quick launching of the missile and the development of launching sites for the Strategic Air Command."

"But more than this," he said, the flight "clearly demonstrates the Atlas' potential for employment in the peaceful development of scientific vehicles for the exploration of space."

Anything to Get Recognition

There is only one answer to the question why Red China and now Red Germany want diplomatic recognition from the United States. They want it because the United States is unwilling to grant it. In the tactics of cold war, it is as important to take from the other side what it does not want to give as it is to put up a fight for a strongly defended position in hot war.

The Red Germans are in a far stronger position than the Red Chinese, because they have in their midst a pawn that represents for Europeans the key to prestige. If they can make the United States, Great Britain and France recognize them, even in a round-about way, as the alternative to being forced out of Berlin, or perhaps held captive under Communist rule in Berlin, they will have scored a tremendous success in their fight for prestige.

They will have proved as surely as if they had been in physical combat with the Western Allies that they are able to get the upper hand in a showdown.

They will have proved what they have tried to prove with innumerable detentions, kidnappings and fake arrests—that they can stick a Red finger into the Allied eye with impunity.

They will not be punished for their insolence. Last June, for example, when nine U.S. soldiers flying in a helicopter were forced down in East Germany, the Communists forced the U.S. State Department to negotiate for the soldiers' release and to pay $1,748 for their support while they were held prisoner. That was a smashing triumph. "When you have people kidnapped, you deal with the kidnappers" was the terse summary of Secretary of State Dulles.

Red Germany now is in a position to hold up the Western Allies for the safety of the Allied sector of Berlin. What it seeks is full diplomatic recognition. What it will settle for, in all probability, is any negotiation that will cause the Western Allies to lose face in Europe.

That was the net effect of the Berlin airlift in 1948-1949. What the United States pointed to as a triumph of organization and skill was pointed to by the Communists as a demonstration of their power of the Western Allies. The airlift was a desperate project of survival, which the Communists humored and tolerated, because it proved what they wanted everybody in Europe to know—that they held the upper hand.

Fair Ladies of Congress

One of the odds of the November election that has received little or no attention is the record number of women in the new Congress—17. The previous high was 16 in the now-expiring 85th Congress.

Perhaps the new record was shrugged off because the disproportion of representation by sexes is so great that the addition of one woman in the 86th Congress has no perceptible effect.

Actually, women may not be as well represented in the new Congress as they were in some previous Congresses when they had fewer members. The Bureau of the Census reported that on Nov. 4 this year there were 54,700,000 women of voting age as against 49,900,000 men of voting age.

That is a proportion of one male congressman for every 97,270 men, as against one female congressman for every 3,217,647 women. The women have a long way to go before they can claim they are making progress in Congress. The odds are still 33 to 1 against them.

There are three new faces among the feminine block in the new Congress: Mrs. Jessica Weiss of New York, Mrs. Catherine May of Washington and Mrs. Edna Oakes Simpson of Illinois, all Republicans. Margaret Chase Smith (R-Maine), the only woman senator, did not have to run for re-election this year. The remaining 13 women were re-elected House members. They are Mrs. Iris F. Blitch (D-Ga.), Mrs. Frances Bolton (R-Ohio), Mrs. Marguerite Stitt Church (R-Ill.), Mrs. Florence P. Dwyer (R-NJ), Mrs. Kathryn Granahan (D-Pa.), Mrs. Edith S. Green (D-Ore.), Mrs. Martha W. Griffiths (D-Mich.), Mrs. Elizabeth Kee (D-WVa.), Mrs. Edna F. Kelly (D-NY), Mrs. Gracie Plost (D-Idaho), Mrs. Edith Nourse Rogers (D-Mass.), Mrs. Katherine St. George (R-NY) and Mrs. Leonor K. Sullivan (D-Mo.).

A Choice of Pie-- All Apple

It's no more than fair that Ezra Taft Benson should get credit for helping to end corn controls in this country's commercial corn area, because the Eisenhower administration's secretary of agriculture usually gets his ears knocked off when farmers vote on anything he proposes.

But it's no more than realistic to point out that he couldn't lose, unless corn farmers had lost their senses.

Secretary Benson had let it be known that corn grown "out of compliance" with crop control would be on its own next year if farmers voted to continue acreage allotments. That would have been as much as 85 per cent of all the corn grown.

He then had clinched the case for dumping acreage allotments by announcing there would be 15 per cent fewer acres next year. Everybody knew, moreover, that federal corn controls had become a gag carried along at the expense of the federal government. They weren't controlling anything. Farmers had all but scuttled the system.

To persuade them to finish the job, a new alternative was set up—to plant and harvest as much as they pleased, with a price pegged at 90 per cent of the average for the previous three years—but not less than 65 per cent of the parity price. This would apply, moreover, to all corn, not just to corn grown in the commercial corn area.

The mystery is why the handful of corn farmers who voted in the referendum didn't go for the new idea 100 per cent. They had a shoo-in choice—no pie at all or all the pie they could eat, all of it apple.

Once Over

You can now go from New York to Miami by jet plane in a little over two hours. This makes it possible to be watching Hialeah races before you have had time to complete your 'on-the-plane' handicapping. It cuts down the time between your selections and the $2 windows.

You asks, "Where are we now?" and the hostess replies, "If I told you we would be far beyond it."

"Fasten your belts" is ordered only once, as it suffices for both departure and arrival.

JET TRAVEL is putting the world at your feet. Man can cross a continent in less time than it took grandpa to drive the buggy home from the next village.

It is developing the new style traveler—the "Impulsive Tourist" and the "Round the World on a Whim" globetrotter.

Fancy lunch at Linday's in New York and being at Joe's Stone Crab place in Miami Beach three hours too early for dinner! Or getting up from the breakfast table at the Plaza and having lunch in any Paris restaurant of your swift choice.

THIS IS A SPEED-MAD AGE in which "Would you like to go to London?" can be answered with "Why not? I've got a couple of hours to kill."

"Why hurry?" is old hat. "Take it easy" dates you. Jet travel is still in its infancy and the time may come when it will be considered a useless waste of time to sit down on a flight across the Atlantic or Pacific.

Man can hop to Frisco from Gotham between catnaps and be in Mexico City before he has finished reading the newspaper he picked up in Chicago. The takeoff and the landing are co-incidental.

The winter tourist can be at a winter playground throwing away money in the time it once took him to prepare his spending program.

The strange fact is he has no sense of speed at 500 miles an hour. This is good. If he did he would want to carry a mouse by which to observe reaction of living creatures to sputnik-like travel.

FAR PLACES of the earth are at his doorstep today and the situation has already reached a point where vacationists arriving on Florida gold coast by jet exclaim, "Oh, you came by a slow plane," when they meet friends who took four hours to make the trip.

Spirit of adventure is taken out of travel and you get as much time to relax as a guided missile. But who cares? Faster! Faster! is mankind's cry. With the airplane industry saying, "You ain't seen nuthin yet."

THE HOTEL PLAZA was sold for 21 million dollars. Gen. Sherman and his horse have retained poise in that big money area for years but both were a little staggered.

"Why not colored tile murals and such things in schoolhouses? Do we want them to be mistaken for factories?" asks architects in a New York hassle over alleged profligacy in school construction. We just want them to look like schools, mister. There was no cheese cake or murals in the public schools of yesterday and they had no trouble turning out good citizens.

James B. Carson, dead in California, was once one of the best known figures along Broadway in vaudeville days.

"I NEVER DID too well in school," said Mortimer Topblower, who had been reading NEW York charges of waste in modern school construction, and architects reply that fancy touch is necessary. "Why not?" we asked.

"Schoolhouse was too plain. No murals," he snapped.

"Did you flunk everything?" We asked. "Oh, it was not that bad. In my time you had to be able to read and write to get into a junior high school but I didn't get any honors. I blamed it on inattention and laziness but now I realize it was the building."

"They had no blute tile, mosaics or murals anywhere," he said. "I see where these modern school architects say a school should have fancy touches so it can't be mistaken for something else. Well I guess I was quick at identifying a schoolhouse, I KNEW WHERE I was. But think what cheese cake would have done for my education!"

STREET SANTAS now wear nylon whiskers. This should increase the skepticism of kiddies. Why not go all out and introduce reindeer in a new fabric?

Remember . . . Shop Early!

Purpose of a Union

By RAYMOND MOLEY

New light can be thrown upon the problem of the union shop by a case decided on Nov. 21 by Judge O. L. Long in the County Superior Court in Macon, Ga.

The distinction is made between a union as a political organization and as an instrument for collective bargaining.

Since the election I have visited two of the states in which right-to-work referenda were defeated, Idaho and Ohio, and have heard the story of these campaigns from those who were intimately connected with them.

I have also talked with Republican candidates who were hit hard by the heavy union vote brought out by the right-to-work issue.

In one case, a candidate lost all of his expected majority except a narrow margin. In the other, a man lost who should have been a shoo-in.

It is not necessary to discuss the reasons why right-to-work lost and whether it was wise to put it on the ballot in a year when candidates for high office were running. I would suggest that the "right" in right-to-work involves two rights—one economic, the other political.

PERHAPS the end to be achieved by sponsors in various states could be found by splitting the two and devising a way first to win for all workers their political freedom from the injustices to which they must submit through a union shop, under present practices by union leaders.

The Georgia case involved an action brought by Nancy M. Looper and other employees of certain railroads for relief concerning the use of their union dues for political and ideological purposes.

Under the stipulation of facts by counsel for both sides, it was admitted, in the words of Judge Long, "that the periodic dues and assessments required of all members of the 15 railway unions, defendant unions, in order to acquire and retain membership have been, and are being and will be used in substantial part for the support of political candidates locally, statewide and for federal offices. . . . I find that the dues and assessments are being used and will be used in part to support, propagate and foster ideological and political doctrines to which these plaintiffs do not subscribe."

THE JUDGE found further that such expenditures were not "germane to collective bargaining."

Therefore, the judge followed the U. S. Supreme Court's opinion in the so-called Hanson case involving a similar problem, that under the federal law membership may be required only for forcing members to pay for collective bargaining and not for political or ideological purposes.

This is explicit in Justice Douglas' opinion in that case. This decision, which will probably be supported by the Georgia Supreme Court in the light of an earlier decision, strikes at the root of the injustice in using union dues to support candidates and political ideas which some members do not favor.

It will be difficult indeed for the U. S. Supreme Court to deny such employees their political rights in this matter.

The virtue of this sort of approach is that it separates the economic issues from the political ones and substantially eliminates the "free rider" argument, so effectively used in the campaigns against right-to-work proposals.

Perhaps an approach by those who would free union members from compulsory membership by striking at this political angle might be much more successful than that which has been taken before.

It will be necessary, of course, to define with some clarity what political activities really are. But that is not at all difficult. For many of these unions perform, in fact, all of the activities of political parties except the official and lawfully defined function of nominating candidates.

All the other business of politics they do openly and most effectively.

'Token Integration'

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Court Points Way To Continue Segregation

Has the South won a sensational victory in the Supreme Court of the United States? Sometimes, because of the legal complexities of the high court's action, the actual result is obscured. But the more the opinion of the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals in the Fifth District of May 9, 1958, is examined—

David Lawrence for it was upheld last week in a brief order by the Supreme Court—the more it becomes apparent that, as a practical matter, a legal way has been opened up to checkmate any large-scale admission of Negroes in the South to public schools hitherto attended exclusively by whites.

"Token integration"—such as is practiced in North Carolina, where about 10 Negroes out of 300,000 have been admitted to public schools previously attended entirely by whites—now has become possible on a constitutional basis everywhere.

Up to now the 1954 decision of the Supreme Court of the United States has been widely interpreted to mean that the Constitution requires every Negro student to have the opportunity to attend a white school in order to get the benefit of association with others in the classroom.

It was ruled that separate facilities are "inherently unequal" from an educational standpoint.

This view can still be reaffirmed in legal phrases by the Supreme Court but the power to prevent such an educational result rests with the states if they use the device now offered by the Alabama State law on pupil assignment.

WHAT ALABAMA did was to wipe out of its Constitution and from its statute books anything that mentioned segregation in the public schools by race or color.

It is true that even after the pupil assignment law was passed in 1957 by the Alabama Legislature, with broad provisions for discretion by the local school boards in acting on student applications, a letter was written by the state superintendent of education plainly discouraging integration.

The U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals, however, said it isn't the state superintendent but the local school board members who have the power to admit or not admit students to certain public schools.

The Circuit Court held also that the Alabama law is not "unconstitutional on its face" because under its provisions Negro students as well as whites could be admitted to all public schools. Racial discrimination has to be proved, the court ruled.

How then can the 'motive' of a school board be ascertained as long as it can base its decisions with respect to student applications on any or all of about 17 different factors recited in the Alabama law?

Even these enumerated points are not all, for the same law says that, while certain factors "shall be considered with respect to the individual pupil," the school boards in addition have a broad power derived from the blanket clause: "As well as other relevant matters."

WHO IS GOING to find out what goes on in the minds of the members of a local school board? The same U. S. Circuit Court opinion of May 1958, which this week became "the law of the land," says, "In testing constitutionality 'we cannot undertake a search for motive.'"

It goes on to quote another Supreme Court decision: "If the state has the power to do an act, its intention or the reason, by which it is influenced in doing it cannot be inquired into."

Each case, moreover, would be a separate lawsuit dealing with an individual and not a class, and hence this could hardly establish any general rules.

It will be noted that, in the case of the four Negro students in Birmingham, whose attorneys challenged the state law which the Supreme Court of the United States upheld last Monday, the school board neither granted nor denied the application—it simply did nothing.

The U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals in its May 1958 opinion described it this way:

"The defendant board simply failed to admit or to deny the request for assignment of the minor plaintiffs to the schools requested, without assigning any reason for such non-action."

The court said it couldn't proceed on the assumption that the board failed to act for some reason related to pre-existing laws on segregation and ruled instead that the 'non-action' is based upon some one or more of the grounds specified in the new law.

The guide now to Virginia and Arkansas—plainly indicated by what the Supreme Court of the United States has done—is to wipe off the books any provision of the State Constitution or any laws which compel segregation, leaving it to the local school boards to administer a "pupil assignment" law as they please.

This is, to be sure, an obvious circumvention, but so is "token integration"—so widely approved by "moderates."

It is a condition, however, and not a theory that faces the South and the Supreme Court has unwittingly pointed a way to continue segregation everywhere that the people, through their local school boards, want it continued.

To be on the safe side, of course, the local school boards will have to be sure there are some applications each year from white students that are also turned down.

Such is the transitory or ephemeral nature of 'the law of the land' which has just been demonstrated conspicuously again to be only "the law of the case."

Lo The Pitchman Cometh

By TRUMAN TWILL

William Feather relates in The Imperial Magazine, which I always look forward to reading, that the public in medieval times was pestered by criers, fishwives and other peddlers, before the days of printed advertising.

All of us who have reached and passed the age of discretion can remember when there was a great deal of this right here in the United States. We don't have to go back to the Middle Ages.

Peddlers hawked their wares up and down residential streets. Many stores resorted to barkers. Downtown streets were cluttered with fast-talking pitchmen who set up their suitcase stands and rallied a crowd, sometimes with police consent, sometimes with an eye peeled for the descending arm of the law.

This wasn't as bad as it was when everything had to be shouted—even the time of day and the news of the day—but it could get pretty noisy when all the monte-banks, hucksters, fishmongers, scissors grinders, junkmen green grocers and ice peddlers turned up in good voice on the same occasion.

If that kind of bedlam were turned loose today there would be a crackdown by the law under the anti-noise ordinances. Otherwise, the quiet-loving citizens of a community would not be able to hear what the monte-banks, hucksters, fishmongers, scissors grinders, junkmen green grocers ice peddlers and a dozen other varieties of criers were saying on the sales machines in the living rooms of America.

These people have been invited into the living room, to spread out their wares and make the suckers' eyes pop out of their sockets with wonderment at an endless variety of glass beads and tonics good for man or beast, one bottle to a customer, step in close, please, and have your money ready.

More than anything else out of history the electronic salesman in the living room imitates the medicine show, with the big painted van backed up to the curb, the kerosene flares casting shadows and the medicine man and his minstrels and snake charmers spellbinding the gooks from the tailgate.

There was music and dancing—belly-dancing by the lady assistant, if the law permitted. There was joking and bantering, oratory and beauty, glitter and dazzle. And always at the psychological moment, the artist would push the product.

Just step in close, folks, and have your money ready . . .

Those of us who have reached and passed the age of discretion don't mind at all that this has come back. Nor do we mind that the very young and the very forgetful do not know that what they think is new and marvelous is really old and humdrum. They have a God-given right to think things out for themselves, and in due time they will be nostalgic about the good old days of electronic salesmanship when there were pitchmen and charlatans in every living room in the land by invitation.

Meanwhile, the spielers, criers, mongers and monte-banks will have found some new way to make their pitch, but you can bet on it—

They'll be in there pitching. They never stop. They never tire. Frankly, we love 'em. But we have to admit we never thought they'd get into the living rooms of every house in America when cops used to run 'em off the streets for doing the same thing.

SEARCH FOR GAS

IN NORTHEASTERN OHIO, drilling is under way to find natural gas at a depth never before explored in that particular area—one and one-half miles down. A test well, in Medina county, will seek to find more natural gas for Ohioans. Photos show the derrick for the well being assembled, a 10-ton block handling the drill bit and casing pipe and the drilling assembly being lowered into the drill hole. In recent years, much natural gas has been produced from shallower horizons. The experimental well is a joint project of the Ohio Fuel Gas, East Ohio Gas and the Wiser Oil companies.

Derrick is being raised into position for the test well. Giant block heads for 90-foot high platform on the derrick. Seen through a maze of steel girders, block lowers assembly. Workmen finally lower casing pipe into the drill hole.

Raybuck-Greenamyre Vows Heard In Bunker Hill Church

Miss Deanne Raybuck of Jamestown, N.Y., became the bride of Gary Greenamyre of RD 4, Salem, Friday at 7 p.m. in the Bunker Hill Methodist Church.

Officiating at the double ring wedding was the church pastor, the Rev. Ralph Fotia. William Fleck of Meadville, Pa., sang "Perfect Love," "I'll Walk Beside Thee" and "The Lord's Prayer." Mrs. Marilyn Headland was organist.

Tapers in a pair of seven-branch candelabra lighted the sanctuary. Twin vases of chrysanthemums of fall shades stood on the altar, which was banked with palms and ferns.

The bride, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Raybuck of Jamestown, N.Y., was given in marriage by her father. Mr. and Mrs. Noble Greenamyre of RD 4, Salem are the bridegroom's parents.

The bride's gown was fashioned of white Chantilly lace and nylon tulle over taffeta. The fitted basque bodice with long sleeves was styled with a scoop neckline and applied with florets centered with seed pearls. The bouffant ballerina skirt was accented with rose medallions.

Her veil of imported illusion was attached to a crown of imported horsehair touched with pearls and rhinestones. Her wedding bouquet contained a white orchid and stephanotis in cascade effect.

Miss Dianna LaMonica of Jamestown was maid of honor. She wore a ballerina gown of baby aqua-blue with matching crown embellished with pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations arranged with silver ribbons.

James Griffith of Damascus was best man. Roger Greenamyre and Richard Pow, both of Salem, ushered.

Mrs. Greenamyre wore a wedge wood blue lace dress over taffeta with black accessories, while Mrs. Raybuck appeared in an embossed satin slate blue sheath dress with matching accessories. Both mothers complemented their attire with corsages of white pompons.

Reception Is Held

An open reception was held in Fellowship Hall at the church. Miss Joyce Raybuck, Mrs. Mary Hancock and Mrs. Mildred Weingart served.

The bride is a graduate of Falconer High School, Falconer, N.Y. where she majored in secretarial practice.

The bridegroom is a senior at Mount Union College, majoring in business administration. He is a member of Sigma Nu fraternity.

For her going away outfit, the bride chose a blue jersey dress and wore the orchid from her wedding bouquet.

When they return from a honeymoon trip to Schoenbrunn Village, the newlyweds will reside at RD 4, Salem.

Lutheran Church Women Set Special Service for Sunday

The United Lutheran Church Women of Holy Trinity Lutheran Church will be in charge of a public thank-offering service Sunday at 11 a.m. in the church. The speaker will be Mrs. Tom Homrighausen of Canton. ULCW members will take part in the worship service.

Separate circle meetings were held at different times during the month. The November topic was "What is a Lutheran?"

A resume of the ULCW convention held recently in Alliance, as prepared by the reporting delegates, Mrs. William Bailey and Mrs. Robert Sell, was presented in each of the circles.

Of particular interest in the report was an address regarding a needy church in Cincinnati, and special prayers were offered in its behalf. Donations to this cause are to be turned in to the Christian Service representatives, and Loyalty Circle will be in charge of the packing and mailing.

It was also announced that the first session of the Lutheran Service Society Friendly Visitors Training Course will be held Jan. 8 at Emmanuel Lutheran Church here. Registration cards will be available soon.

December circle meetings will be omitted. The combined general meeting will be held Dec. 9 at 7:30 p.m. at the church, to which all women of the church are invited to attend.

Friendship Circle

Nine members of Friendship Circle and two guests, Mrs. John Kryk and Mrs. E. A. Hoch were welcomed Tuesday at the home of Misses Ruth and Jeanette Hoch of E. 10th St.

An interesting program was presented by the topic leader, Mrs. Hester Laurain, followed by a discussion period. Mrs. Ward Zeller had charge of the business meeting at which time she read the report on the convention.

the conclusion of the meeting. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. M. E. Thomas of W. 14th St., Jan. 27. Miss Thelma Thomas will be co-hostess and Mrs. Zeller topic leader.

Loyalty Circle

Loyalty Circle met Tuesday evening at the church, with six members answering roll call. Mrs. Lee Gopp led the program topic.

Reports were given during the business meeting, conducted by Mrs. Sell, circle leader. Mrs. Bailey discussed ways to help the church in Cincinnati.

The meeting was closed with the Lord's Prayer. Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Harold Knoll and Mrs. Albert Ryser.

At the January meeting, Mrs. John Stolta will be leader, while Mrs. Bailey and Mrs. Paul Englert will serve as hostesses.

Patience Circle

Thursday evening, members of Patience Circle gathered at the church, with 17 responding to roll call. Mrs. Charles Davidson led the group in the topic discussion.

Miss Hilda Franke was in charge of the short business meeting. As a Christmas project, plans were made to give hankies or fruit plates to shut-ins. Mrs. Clarence Callahan and Miss Mary Berger will be in charge of making up the plates.

During the social hour, lunch was served by the hostesses, Mrs. Howard Moore and Mrs. Glenn Robbins.

January hostesses will be Mrs. Wade Schaefer, Mrs. Steve Karnofel and Mrs. Robert Cain.

Charity Circle

Charity Circle also met Thursday evening at the church. Thirteen members attended, and Mrs. James Graybeal was welcomed as a new member.

Mrs. Albert Juhn was topic leader.

The circle leader, Mrs. Glenn Whitcomb, conducted the business meeting. Mrs. Millan Miles was appointed the new membership representative for Charity Circle.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. John Kehrer and Mrs. Whitcomb.

Hostesses for January will be Mrs. Miles and Mrs. Helen Meier.

Hope Circle

Twenty-nine members of Hope Circle were welcomed Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Leo Edwards of the Albany Road, together with two guests, Mrs. Harry Woodworth and Mrs. Charles Davidson.

Mrs. Perry Hilliard Jr. was co-hostess and assisted when refreshments were served.

Mrs. Herbert Platt, circle leader, opened the meeting with scripture and Mrs. Galen Greenisen followed with an explanation. A Thanksgiving poem was read by Mrs. Daryl Everett, and Mrs. Perry Hilliard Sr. presented the convention report. Mrs. Joe Wukotich offered prayer.

An explanation of "prayer partners" was given by Mrs. Davidson, and names were exchanged. Two new members were reported, Mrs. Woodworth and Mrs. William Mowery Jr.

Mrs. G. D. Keister, topic leader, presented a special program on the Rocky Boy Mission in Montana and related experiences of her visit there this summer. The Mission is the yearly project of the circle, and plans were made to send them a monetary gift for Christmas.

Mrs. Charles Becknell and Mrs. Platt will be the January hostesses.

Mrs. Jack F. Dattilio

Patricia Ann Rouse Weds Jack Dattilio At Leetonia

A reception will be held this evening at O.S.I. Hall in Leetonia for Miss Patricia Ann Rouse and Jack F. Dattilio who were united in marriage at 9 a.m. today.

The nuptial Mass was sung by the Rev. Fr. Warren Braun in St. Patrick's Catholic Church in Leetonia.

Twin vases of white gladioli and mums decorated the main altar before which the double ring ceremony was performed.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald J. Rouse of 414 Columbia St., Leetonia. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Lena Dattilio of 63 Elm St., Leetonia and Erl Dattilio of Canton.

James Korleski of Alliance sang "Ave Maria," "On This Day, Oh Beautiful Mother" and "Mother At Thy Feet Is Kneeling" as the bride placed a bouquet of white roses on the altar. Mrs. Esther Odoran of Salem was organist.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride appeared in a floor-length gown of lace over net and satin. The bodice was fashioned with a scalloped Sabrina neckline, embellished with iridescent sequins and seed pearls, and long sleeves. Her fingertip veil of silk illusion was attached to a lace pillbox hat edged with seed pearls. She carried a white Bible, a gift from her father, topped with a white orchid and stephanotis.

Identically attired in iridescent green sheaths were the matron of honor, Mrs. Joseph Billet and the bridesmaids, Mrs. Arlene Toler and Miss Nancy Ann Morris, all of Leetonia. The gowns were styled with round necklines, short sleeves and balloon overskirts.

They wore matching crowns and theatre veils. White chrysanthemums were featured in their cascade bouquets.

John Buffone of Leetonia was best man. The ushers were David Pirigyi and Donald Girard of Leetonia.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Rouse chose a poudre blue Alencon lace and chiffon dress with matching feather half hat.

Mrs. Dattilio wore a navy lace dress with a white half hat. Both wore red rose corsages.

Weirich led devotions

The "World and the Way" was the program theme led by Mrs. William Jones, Mrs. Walter Scott and Mrs. Bea Johnston. Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. William Henning, and Mrs. Raymond Him. The next meeting will be Dec. 12.

Mrs. Roy Mathey of Leetonia spent Saturday with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Mathey and family.

Gary Grimes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Grimes of Canton, spent Saturday night with Jackie Stewart.

The Junior class of the Reading Sunday School met Friday evening with Harry and David Kime.

Mrs. Richard Wagner and children of Cuyahoga Falls visited recently with her mother, Mrs. Evelyn Stewart and her sister, Mrs. Donald Mathey.

Dr. Frank J. Mangur called on Mrs. Donald Mathey.

Dr. Frank J. Mangur called on Art Thomas Sunday.

Ray Austin Sr. of North Benton visited his son Duane Austin and family over the weekend.

Mrs. Harry Bush entertained Saturday evening in honor of her husband's birthday anniversary. Attending were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dayton of Akron, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Bush of Warren, Carl Bush of Cleveland and Mrs. Mivy Bush.

Mrs. Ollie Stewart and Mrs. Jack Stewart spent Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Earl Stewart Jr. in Canton.

Harry Duxie of Canton called on friends here Wednesday.

Mrs. Eleanor Ward entertained with a dinner at her home Wednesday. Attending were Mrs. Thomas Malone, Mrs. Howard Humphrey, Mrs. Donald McGarrah and Mrs. Phoebe Davison of Salem. The afternoon was spent with Mrs. Malone at her home.

Mrs. Harold Benn entertained the Women's Workorganization at her home on Wednesday afternoon with nine members present.

Mrs. Kenneth Kanf presented the program. The December meeting with Mrs. John Iker and a Christmas exchange will be held.

The Knox Township Farm Bureau Council met on Tuesday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Richard Howenstein. Mr. and Mrs. Edward Braid was host at hostess.

Miss Johanna Braid had charge of the devotions.

Plans were made to end the officers training meeting at Lisbon on Monday evening.

The discussion period was in charge of Mrs. Daryl Day. The next meeting will be held with Mr. and Mrs. J. I. Baker and will feature the annu oyster supper. Lunch was served by the hostess.

Guarding Your Health

Question of Radiation

There is great confusion almost everywhere today concerning the possible risks to the human body by exposure to radiation. Although all the answers still are not known, an excellent discussion of this subject has come recently from the American College of Radiology and the American Dental Association.

The principal problems of exposure to radiation (including X-rays) are:

THE POSSIBILITY of local reactions, such as burns; the possibility of sterility; the possibility of shortening life; the possibility of provoking such diseases as cancer or leukemia; and the possibility of damaging the human seed which will lead to malformations or undesirable changes in generations yet unborn.

Today the chances of severe local reactions from the use of X-rays for diagnosis or treatment are slight.

The risk of local injury from large amounts of radiation to the whole body from atomic weapons or accidents with nuclear energy is present, but about this the medical profession alone can do little.

There are hazards of producing sterility if the sex glands are exposed to too much radiation before or during the procreative period. Consequently, precautions in protecting them are strongly recommended.

Such disorders as cancer, and leukemia can be produced by overexposure to radiation. However, this is a risk principally to those who are occupationally exposed and so presents a problem which is largely technical.

THE QUESTION of hazard to the human seed is extremely complex and perhaps cannot be answered for many generations. But this risk involves only those before or during the procreative stage of life. Unnecessary radiation to children, the young, and women during pregnancy should be kept to a minimum.

The general conclusions at the present time are partly technical and partly involved with common sense.

The technical ones relate to methods which keep the exposure to X-rays and other radiation at the lowest possible level and smallest possible body area compatible with the diagnostic or treatment procedures which are needed.

THE COMMON SENSE outlook is that "no specific procedure can be condemned or prohibited if it is sufficiently indicated for the good of the person on whom it is done."

This means that the value of the diagnostic examination or treatment must be weighed against the possible hazards. Such factors as age, pregnancy, and particularly the good which may be expected, are the most important.

Kittens, Mittens, and Life

"Three little kittens lost their mittens..." Bobby is thoroughly absorbed in the antics of the kittens. He will be pleased to discover that at the end of the story they find their mittens again. Like all children, he wants his stories to have happy endings.

But soon Bobby is going to find out that life's stories don't all have happy endings. Bobby is growing up, out of the land of fairies and elves, into the world of reality. Bobby must learn to meet sorrow with understanding, pain with courage, prosperity with thankfulness, defeat with hope, success with humility—he must learn to face life.

The Church School is waiting with open doors for Bobby, your Bobby. The Church School is prepared to show your children the best ways to make life a success. The Church School is ready to teach your children—in the language of children—the eternal truths of life.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL...
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Army, Air Force Hoping to Extend Unbeaten Strings

Cadets Tangle With Middies

Falcons Looking to Cotton Bowl Berth

By The Associated Press
While the two service veterans, Army and Navy, clashed in Philadelphia, the Air Force Academy made its final pitch for a Cotton Bowl berth today as major college football called it quits for 1958.

Army was looking for its first unbeaten season in nine years as the Cadets put their 8-0-1 record against Navy (6-2).

But the Air Force, also 8-0-1, needed only a victory at Colorado (6-2) to nail a New Year's Day date against Texas Christian at Dallas. The word is that Air Force, tied by Iowa, can cap its first season as a major team with a bowl trip, win, lose or draw.

Florida and Clemson also could make a bowl today. The Gator Bowl Friday named Florida (9-3-1) for one of its two empty berths—if the Gators beat Miami (1-7). Clemson (7-2) reportedly can have the Sugar Bowl spot opposite unbeaten, untied Louisiana State by beating Furman (2-6).

Mississippi (7-2), South Carolina (7-3), Alabama (5-3-1), Georgia Tech (5-3-1) and Vanderbilt (5-3-1) are in the running for the other Gator Bowl bid. Mississippi played Mississippi State, Alabama met Auburn, Tech played Georgia and Vanderbilt tussled with Tennessee in traditional closers. South Carolina finished by beating Wake Forest Thanksgiving Day.

The other major bowls were filled last week. It's Iowa and California in the Rose Bowl, Oklahoma and Syracuse in the Orange Bowl. All but Oklahoma have finished their regular schedules. The Sooners (8-1) played Oklahoma State.

Louisiana State, No. 1 in The Associated Press poll ahead of unbeaten but bowl-banned Auburn, also has completed its season. Texas Christian closed shop against Southern Methodist, a Sugar Bowl darkhorse.

Other major games were Notre Dame-Southern California, Rice-Baylor and Houston-Texas Tech. Buffalo Friday night turned down a trip to the Tangerine Bowl in Orlando, Fla., because of racial discrimination which would sideline two players. Team members previously had accepted the invitation, but the university had final say.

Pascual Perez Offered Fight With De Leon

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Argentina's Pascual Perez, world flyweight champion, has been offered a fight here next year, regardless of whether he whips Dommy Ursua in Manila Dec. 15. Matchmaker George Parnassus of the Olympic Club suggested Perez meet Mario de Leon, 112-pound champion of Mexico, if he beats Ursua. He offered the Argentine boxer a $30,000 guarantee. Perez stopped here en route to his Philippines assignment.

Fight Results

New York — Mike De John, 202½, Syracuse, N.Y., outpointed Willi Besmanoff, 201, Milwaukee, 10.
Kanab, Utah — Lamar Clark, 182, West Jordan, Utah, knocked out Hal Crump, 194, Butte, Mont., 2.

Baltimore Colts Could Clinch Title With Victory Over 49ers

By The Associated Press
You National Football League Eastern Division clubs, particularly Washington, look out Sunday. The Brown gang — Cleveland, Paul and Jimmy — are on the prowl.

This trio, Jimmy the fullback who plays for Paul the coach of the Cleveland Browns, has set its sights on an eighth divisional title in nine years and plans to use the Washington Redskins as a springboard when they get together in Cleveland.

The Browns are a game ahead of the second-place New York Giants and must keep winning lest the Giants catch up before the two meet Dec. 14 in New York. Cleveland has a 7-2 record, New York 6-3.

The Baltimore Colts also have the same idea in the Western Division. They entertain the San Francisco 49ers in their season home finale and a victory would clinch at least a tie for the Western title.

Baltimore, with a 8-1 record, can go a step further and grab all the marbles if the Chicago Bears, 6-3, fall before the Pittsburgh Steelers in Pittsburgh. New York meets the Philadelphia Eagles and the Los Angeles Rams play the Cards in Chicago. Detroit defeated Green Bay 24-14 Thanksgiving Day and is idle until next weekend.

Jimmy Brown leads the NFL in rushing and every yard he gains establishes a record. Two weeks ago he broke the record formerly held by Eagles blockbuster Steve Van Buren, of 1,146 yards. He now has 1,229 yards.

Baltimore which has lost only to New York, still has two more chances on the West Coast against Los Angeles and the 49ers to put a ribbon in its first divisional title.

Pittsburgh's Steelers, sparked by quarterback Bobby Layne, has a four-game winning streak that has carried them to third place in the Eastern Division. The Bears, paying their first visit to Pittsburgh since 1947, has added Rudy Bukich, ex-Redskin, to a quarterback crew that includes Zeke Bratkowski, Ed Brown and George Blanda.

Los Angeles hopes to get back on the beam after a second half whipping last week by the Colts. The Cards, tied with the Eagles for the bottom of the Eastern Division with a 2-6-1 record, have only a tie to show in their last five games.

Ashley Cooper Tops Buchholz in Sydney

SYDNEY (AP)—Wimbledon and U.S. champion Ashley Cooper of Australia halted the sensational winning streak of 18-year-old Earl Buchholz, of St. Louis, today by winning the New South Wales tennis championship 6-0, 6-1, 7-9, 6-2. Obviously nervous and well below the form which marked his earlier victories over teammate Alex Olmedo and Australians Mal Anderson and Roy Emerson, the young American junior proved no match for the hard hitting Aussie.

Buchholz was able to win only 10 points in the first set and 12 in the second before he mustered a brief but shortlived rally which won him the third.

The American camp was not heartened over the setback. "We are very proud of the way Buchholz has played all week," said Perry Jones, U.S. Davis Cup captain. "He was up against the world's best amateur in Cooper and he was playing his first important final."

Earlier, pretty 19-year-old renee Schuurman of South Africa won the women's title by defeating Jan Lehane, Australia junior, 6-2, 4-6, 6-4.

the chance to prove yourself."

This is all the husky, smiling young man has ever asked.

Within a few years after his operation he was playing basketball from a wheelchair and excelled in the sport.

In 1949, when wheelchair basketball was thriving because of World War II casualties, McGarry averaged 25 points a game. His team, the "Rolling Gophers," gained the finals of the National Wheelchair Tournament and Jim was named to the all-star team.

After graduating from St. Thomas in St. Paul, he came to this northwoods hamlet to become a history instructor and assistant coach. Now he is head coach.

Corsairs Win 54-34; End With 9-0 Slate

Larry Phillips and Henry Maxim, guard and fullback, respectively, on Salem High's 1957 football team which finished 10th in the state, will know Monday whether or not they'll be playing in the 1958 Junior Rose Bowl.

Both gridders saw considerable action Thursday in Santa Monica City College's 54-34 win over Mesa, Colo. It was the Corsairs' 9th straight win against no defeats.

As champions of California's Metropolitan Conference the team is expected to be named as one of the representatives in the Junior Rose Bowl game.

Fairfield-Waterford To Play Blue Devils At Home Tuesday

The Fairfield-Waterford basketball Rebels, in their third year under Walter "Bing" Newton, will floor a young and not to experienced cage squad when they play their second game of a 17-game schedule at home Tuesday with Western Reserve.

The team was 9-11 in the 1957-58 season and have only one experienced performer returning. That is Ernie Keslar, a 6-0 senior. Six Monogram Winners Return On '58-'59 United High Team

The United High Golden Eagles, equipped with six lettermen from the 1957-58 team which compiled an 11-6 record, will open a 18-game schedule Dec. 2 at home with Salineville. The Golden Eagles will play 10 games at home and eight away.

The letter winners include two seniors and four juniors. They are 6-0 Jim Pike, 6-1½ Gary Lindsmith and 6-0 Jim Summer, 5-10 Les Blanchard, 6-4½ Frank Shag not and 5-10½ Gerry Marks.

Other candidates include 5-9 junior, Terry Gorka; 5-9 senior, Denver Whitsett; 5-11½ junior, Bill Taylor and 5-10 sophomore Wayne Ramsey.

Bob Penrod, a graduate of Otterbein College, will be starting his third year at United. He coached previously at Tuscarawas Valley for three years.

The Quakers will be one of four teams in the preview. Others are, besides South, Alliance and Kent Roosevelt. Salem will play South in the first 10-minute game and then come back in the third 10-minute contest against Alliance.

Racial Ban Lifted In Sugar Bowl Issue

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The Sugar Bowl, freed from a ban on interracial sports, still was expected to choose Clemson today to face Louisiana State in the Jan. 1 game.

A federal court ruling Friday knocked out Louisiana's 1956 law banning competition between white and Negro athletes.

However, a ruling by the LSU Board of Supervisors bans the team from playing integrated teams not only in Louisiana but also outside the state.

The federal court ruling did not touch a phase of the law which bans segregated seating at sports events in the state. That was expected to rule out the possibility of getting eighth-ranked Air Force which was expected to go to the Cotton Bowl anyway.

The Sugar Bowl, however, does not require racial identification before a ticket is bought. A few years ago it removed a stipulation printed on most of its tickets that they could be used "only by the Caucasian race."

The Defense Department declined comment on the segregation ruling. The Army previously said it would not accept any bowl invitation from anyone.

The segregation ruling came in a case filed by Negro boxer Joe Dorsey who contended the law was jeopardizing his career. The decision was signed by Judge John Minor Wisdom of the U.S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals and U.S. District Judges Herbert Christenberry and J. Skelly Wright.

Elgin Baylor Scores 26 in Lakers' Win

By The Associated Press
Minneapolis' Elgin Baylor, a rookie in the National Basketball Assn., is finding the professional game very much similar to the college variety.

One of the most prolific scorers in the country last year as a collegian, the All-America has turned into one of the top point getters in the pro league.

The former Seattle star Friday night scored 26 points as he led the Lakers to a 114-93 victory over Cincinnati. The output raised his league leading point total to 449, an average of almost 25 points a game.

In the only other game, Detroit defeated Syracuse 101-93.

The Lakers, hitting 51 per cent of their shots, coasted after compiling a 20-point lead in the second quarter.

Syracuse was in the game until the start of the last period at Detroit. Leading 75-72, the Nats were only able to score two field goals in the first 11 minutes of the quarter. The Pistons' Chuck Noble led the winners with 20 points.

Bell Ringers Choir To Sing At Grace United Church

COLUMBIANA — An appearance by the Bell Ringers Choir of Youngstown Westminster Presbyterian Church will highlight the program for the seventh annual Christmas "Singspiration" to be presented at 8 p.m. Sunday in Grace United Church under sponsorship of the Golden Link Class.

3 Cleveland Youths Held for Burglary

CLEVELAND (AP) — Three West Side brothers aged 10, 11 and 12 were arrested at their home Friday night. Police said they admitted taking $1,300 from St. Patrick's Catholic School in four burglaries within the last two months.

Mrs. Anton Chesk, 49, wife of the custodian at the school, surprised the youngsters Friday afternoon and grabbed one of the boys. His shouts brought his brothers and they kicked and punched the woman until she released her hold, she told police.

The woman knew the boys and gave their names to officers.

Patrolman Vincent Gallagher, who made the arrests, and Lt. Peter Allen said the boys admitted looting and ransacking about 10 homes in the area and taking $950 from a filing cabinet in St. Patrick's School Oct. 10, another $351 from the same cabinet Nov. 12 and $61 from the custodian's apartment Oct. 19. The larger sums represented collections by nuns from pupils who were selling Christmas cards.

Officers said the boys were part of a family of 14 children and that both of their parents held fulltime jobs.

ACCIDENTALLY SHOT

CLEVELAND (AP) — Accidently shot in the chest while hunting, Robert D. Joyce, 33, of Wiloughby is in fair condition today at Doctors Hospital here. He was wounded on Thanksgiving Day in Ashtabula County and moved here from Ashtabula General Hospital.

HOVIS IS HONORED. — Jack Hovis (above), of 359 W. 10th St., pharmacist at Salem City Hospital, has been elected president of the Ohio Society of Hospital Pharmacists. He succeeds Jack Smittle of Ohio Valley Hospital, Steubenville. Mr. Hovis had been vice president and this office was filled by appointment by John McGowan of Akron.

THE CEREMONIAL degree team of Columbiana Lodge, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, will confer the first degree on a class of candidates at its meeting Tuesday night in the lodge hall. Officers will be elected during the session. George Seederly is current noble grand.

The lodge recently honored several veteran members of the organization. Fifty-year pins were presented George Overholt and Harry Warrick; 45-year pins went to Arthur Myers, Wick Fry and Bert Brinker; 40-year pins to Albert Spears and Ryan Roller; 35-year pin to Earl Cover, and 30-year pin to Willard Vaughn and Kermit Crouse.

BREAKS LEG IN FALL LISBON — Al Rowlands, 24, of 131 Morton St. suffered a compound fracture of the lower right leg Friday at 2:30 p.m. while working at the Lisbon Diesel and Supply Inc. at 216 E. Washington St.

Rowlands was putting insulation on the rafters when he fell to the floor, fracturing his leg. He was taken to Salem City Hospital.

WINNER OF MANY AWARDS — Miss Mickey Hoffman, nine-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Hoffman of Damascus, has received a total of 33 trophies and 65 medals since she began her baton twirling two years ago. She is the only National Baton Twirling Association member who has ever won three sportsmanship trophies. Mickey is featured twirler with the Robin Hood drill team and a member of the Robin Hood Majorettes of Alliance. She is head majorette with the Goshenettes from Goshen Elementary School in Damascus.

A student of Miss Gladys Persinger of Alliance, Mickey will attend the Tangerine Bowl Baton Clinic Dec. 28 to Dec. 31 in Orlando, Fla. She will make her first solo television appearance Sunday on the Giant Tiger Show on Channel 5.

Farm Products Prices Continue To Dip for 3rd Straight Month

WASHINGTON (AP)—Farm product prices dipped four-tenths of one per cent this month to continue a downturn started in September when harvest of this year's record output began.

Elkton

The WSCS of the Elkton Methodist Church met at the parish house Wednesday for a coverdish dinner.

Seven members of the Orpha Society of the Lisbon Methodist Church and Rev. and Mrs. Tom Hammerton and family were the guests.

The remainder of the day was spent quilting.

The 4-H Elkton Merry Maids met Wednesday evening at the home of Judy Harrold. Claire Dotson, Judy Martin and Dale McCaskey were accepted as new members.

A Christmas party was planned for the December meeting at the home of Colleen Baker.

The "Beaver Chapter" 4-H Boys Club met Wednesday evening with Cletus and Ronnie Randolph.

A Father and son Christmas party will be held at the Elkton Grange in December.

Both the girls and boys clubs decided to furnish and prepare some Christmas baskets for the needy.

Mrs. Frank Sturgeon entertained the "Jolly 8" club members at her home Wednesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Parks are the parents of a baby boy born Nov. 18 at the Salem City Hospital.

The Christian Fellowship Class of the Elkton Methodist Church met Thursday night with Mr. and Mrs. Leland Baker.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Homer Laughlin of Lisbon on Nov. 19 at the Salem City Hospital.

Mrs. Laughlin was the former Linda Jo Gerlach, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Gerlach of Elkton.

The Mothers Club met Friday for a coverdish dinner at the Elkton School cafeteria. Committees were appointed for a Christmas tea to be held at the school in December.

All mothers are invited. A birthday party was held by the Mothers Club at the school following the coverdish dinner honoring all pupils with birthdays in November.

Mrs. Clyde Bailey and family of Columbiana were visitors Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Harrold.

Ruritans At Greenford Enjoy Dinner

The Greenford Ruritans recently enjoyed a steak supper served by the Greenford Lutheran Church. It was decided to give Christmas baskets to needy families in the Greenford area. Anyone knowing of such a family should contact Fred Puttkamer, Bill Ferguson or Howard Feicht.

John Knopp was taken in as a new member. Fred Puttkamer, Howard Feicht, and Fred Clause have been selected to represent the Greenford Ruritan Club at the National Ruritan convention at Washington, D.C., in January.

There will be a meeting of the 1959 officers Dec. 3 at the home of Mr. Clause. Mr. Puttkamer is the newly-appointed Ohio district governor.

Music was enjoyed by a quartet from the Locust Grove Baptist Church.

The club will sponsor another Christmas home lighting contest this year and will give first, second and third prizes.

"Humor and Tolerance Affecting Religion in United States" was the topic for the guest speaker, Rev. Albert Linder, chaplain of Youngstown University. The Christmas party, which will be "ladies night," will be Dec. 10.

Barbara Mincher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Mincher, is recovering from a tonsilectomy. The first aid course, which was sponsored by the Green Township Ladies auxiliary and given by the American Red Cross for six weeks, was completed by the following women: Mrs. Leland Cook, Mrs. Wib Schaffer, Mrs. John Harper, Mrs. Don Howell, Mrs. Richard Wolford, Mrs. Edgard Kurtz, Mrs. Raymond Kurtz, Mrs. Wilbur Kurtz, Mrs. John Mauch, Mrs. Lowell Cook, Mrs. John Baur, Mrs. Bob Lederle, Mrs. Mildred Grimm, and Mrs. Noel Slagle.

The instructors for the course were Virgil Campbell and John Sipe. They discussed the possibilities of an advanced course after the first of the year.

Clyde Feicht has returned home from the hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Seaman of Claysville, Pa., were recent guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Audley Kuhns.

New Garden

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Heim and daughter Ruth of Warsaw, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Lutz of New Alexander were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Garland Davis.

Mr. and Mrs. Garland Davis and family were Saturday evening supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Kupinski of Hanoverton. In honor of the birthday of Mr. Kupinski.

Mrs. Lois Amos entertained a group of friends for her son, Paul Amos and Forest McBrien, Saturday evening who left Monday morning for the services.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Hawkins and Ronnie were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Messer and sons.

In the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Lester Hawkins, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Messer and Mrs. Marion Wilson attended the Services of Dedication for the new basement addition at the Highland Christian Church.

the deal partly because of its "economic advantages." The reference apparently was to the reported purchase price of 24 or 25 cents a gallon. The current price of domestic benzene is 31 cents a gallon. The contract, under which Dow will pay about 13½ million dollars to the Soviet government, appeared to be a major success by Russia in its attempt to penetrate the American market with raw materials at reduced prices. The company also said another reason favoring the agreement was that the contract assured a dependable supply of benzene in the near future. In the past, Dow said, domestic supplies have been erratic and sometimes seriously inadequate. Industry sources agreed that this was sometimes true, but said that at present there is an over-supply of domestic benzene.
